Bamboo

A beautiful bamboo once grew in a garden. One day the Master of the garden came by. “Bamboo, I need you.” “Master, I am ready. Use me as you will.” “Bamboo,” said the Master gravely, “I must cut you down.” Bamboo trembled and bent his head. “Do your will and cut.” “Beloved Bamboo, I must take your leaves and branches, too.” “Master, spare me!” “Bamboo, I must cut you in two and take out your heart.” Bamboo bowed low. “Master . . . do your will.” The Master of the Garden cut and, lifting Bamboo gently, carried him to a spring among his dry fields. He carefully laid one end of Bamboo in the spring and the other into a water channel. The sparkling waters raced down Bamboo’s torn body into the fields. Rice was planted, shoots grew, and harvest came. In his growth, Bamboo was life abundant, but in his brokenness, he channeled abundant life into his Master’s world.

Living Stewardship Now

Are you always in charge, always taking control, wanting to be seen as a leader? Try a parish ministry where you simply serve in the background: wash dishes, clean up after an event, run errands, stuff envelopes.

Bambú

Había una vez un bambú hermoso en un jardín. Un día pasó el dueño del jardín y le dijo: “Bambú, te necesito”. “Señor, estoy listo. Úsame como desees”. “Bambú”, le dijo el Señor muy serio, “tengo que cortarte”. El Bambú bajó su cabeza temblando. “Haz tu voluntad y corta”. “Querido Bambú, tengo que cortar tus hojas y ramas también”. “¡Señor, líbrame de eso!” “Bambú, tengo que cortarte en dos y sacarte el corazón”. El Bambú se inclinó profundamente. “Señor . . . que se haga tu voluntad”. El Señor del Jardín cortó el Bambú y lo levantó suavemente llevándolo a un manantial en medio de sus campos secos, puso cuidadosamente una punta del Bambú roto en el manantial y la otra punta en un canal de agua. Las aguas se precipitaron jubilosas a través del canal, hecho con el cuerpo roto del Bambú, hacia los campos. Entonces se sembró arroz, crecieron las espigas y se dio la cosecha. Como bella planta el Bambú gozaba antes de la vida en abundancia, pero ahora su cuerpo roto servía para canalizar vida abundante hacia el mundo de su Señor.

La Corresponsabilidad Vivida Ahora

¿Estás siempre encargado de algo, siempre en control, esperando que te vean como líder? Trata de involucrarte en un ministerio parroquial donde prestes tus servicios sin visibilidad: lavando platos, limpiando después de algún evento, haciendo mandados, ayudando a enviar la correspondencia.

Today's Readings

First Reading — Do we not have one father? Did not the one God create us? (Malachi 1:14b — 2:2b, 8-10).

Psalm — In you, Lord, I have found my peace (Psalm 131).

Second Reading — You have received not a human word but the word of God (1 Thessalonians 2:7b-9, 13).

Gospel — Call no one your father on earth; you have but one Father, the one in heaven (Matthew 23:1-12).

God is in Charge

The word of God is at work in you

© J. S. Paluch Co., Inc.

“Who do you think you are?!” today’s readings demand. We are brought up short, put in our place, given a dose of reality. Who is God? Who is in charge? Who is the greatest?

We begin with a passage from the prophet Malachi, one of the latest prophets, who wrote after the Jews returned from Babylon. Calling the people to task in God’s name, he condemns the divisions and false teachings that have arisen, reminding them that all were created by the one God. Paul tells the Thessalonians the same thing, but in a positive way—praising them for remembering that it is God who is at work within them.

Finally, the Gospel presents Jesus speaking out against hypocrisy and vainglory. “You have but one teacher . . . you have but one Father” (Matthew 23:8, 9). We are firmly put in our place. God is in charge. — © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Prayer After Communion

The rites following the reception of Communion are very short. It is as if the Church is saying to us that the only way to respond to this great gift is to go forth and live it! But there are some significant rites yet before we are sent forth from the Mass. After Communion, we pray together in silence or sing a hymn; both are ways to thank God for the gift of the Son. Then the priest prays another collect, the Prayer after Communion. This prayer, usually very short, gathers our prayers into one. It reminds us of what we have already experienced: in receiving the Eucharist, we have received a foretaste of the heavenly banquet; we have eaten the bread of angels. This reality, this knowledge, should transform us, so that we may journey through this life with our hearts set on eternal life, and find in the Eucharist—which is food from heaven and daily bread—the strength and hope we need to work toward God’s kingdom of justice here and now. — Corinna Laughlin, © Copyright, J. ## Dios Está a Cargo “¿Quién te crees que eres?!”, demandan las lecturas de hoy. Nos ponen de cortito, en nuestro lugar, con una dosis de realidad. ¿Quién es Dios? ¿Quién está a cargo? ¿Quién es el máximo?

Comenzamos con el pasaje del profeta Malaquías, uno de los profetas tardíos, quien escribió después que los judíos retornaron de Babilonia. Amonestando al pueblo en el nombre de Dios, condena las divisiones y falsas enseñanzas que han surgido, recordándoles que todos fueron creados por el único Dios. Pablo dice la misma cosa a los tesalonicenses, pero de una manera positiva, elogiándolos por recordar que Dios es el que obra en ellos.

Finalmente, el Evangelio presenta a Jesús hablando contra la hipocresía y la vanagloria. “No tienen más que un Maestro. . . el padre de ustedes es sólo el Padre celestial” (Mateo 23:8, 9). Con firmeza nos pone en nuestro lugar. Dios está a cargo. — © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Lecturas de hoy

Primera lectura — Adora al Dios que nos creó, y sean fieles unos a otros (Malaquías 1:14b — 2:2b, 8-10).

Salmo — En ti, oh Señor, encuentro la paz (Salmo 131 [130]).

Segunda lectura — Estábamos decididos a compartir con ustedes no sólo el Evangelio de Dios, sino nuestro ser también (1 Tesalnicenses 2:7b-9, 13).

Evangelio — El más grande de ustedes debe ser el servidor de los demás (Mateo 23:1-12).

La Nueva Alianza

La nueva alianza es Cristo mismo, el nuevo Israel es la Iglesia. Una vez más, Dios toma la iniciativa y se hace uno de nosotros, plenamente. La participación mutua de Dios no puede ser mayor, pues se hace uno de nosotros y habita entre nosotros. Las categorías se rompen totalmente, no hay deberes nuestros para con Cristo, hay respuesta a una invitación concreta: coman y beban, hagan esto en memoria mía. Jesús mismo instituye, en el contexto de una cena, una nueva alianza. Ya no se destrozará un animal y se pondrá su cuerpo en dos partes para pasar por en medio de ellos, siendo conscientes de que quien rompa esa alianza correrá la misma suerte. Cristo, al derramar su sangre, corta su propio cuerpo para sellar, mediante él, mediante su sangre, la nueva alianza. La noche antes de ser entregado, partió el pan y lo repartió diciendo que era su cuerpo; del mismo modo con el cáliz, sangre de la alianza nueva y eterna. Al beber su sangre nos hacemos uno con él, porque él ya se hizo uno con nosotros. La alianza no es en un animal sacrificado, sino en él mismo, que se hace cordero para el sacrificio. Lo imitamos en la medida en que nos damos a los demás. — Miguel Arias, © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Learning to be Quiet before God

It can be quite difficult to quiet oneself. We live very hectic lives, in part by our design. At other times, our hectic lives have to do with the times in which we live or where we live. Big cities can be very rush-rush. For most of us, we have a lot coming at us. We are committed to many initiatives. The day begins, the day moves on, and the day ends before we know it.

It can also be difficult to quiet oneself because we are not used to the practice of being quiet. If we try to be quiet, it is a constant battle to keep our minds focused. Our minds wander like a rudderless ship in the ocean. There also is uneasiness with being quiet. We are not sure what will come up, where is it going, whether we are wasting my time, etc.

In the end, if we want to hear God's call for us, and I do believe that most of us do want to know and understand our calling, then we have to learn how to be quite before God and listen.

Many saints have struggled with this dynamic of learning how to be quiet. Our own Saint Teresa of Avila in her writings titled "The Interior Castle" (an excellent read by the way) tells us that there are many "weeds" and "snakes" in the garden prior to getting into our spiritual castle. And once we are in, every room has distractions. Some of these distractions are the feeling of comfort and satisfaction. She urges us to push on in our spiritual development by listening, by being quiet, and by being still before God.

Many have used "centering prayer" as a practice to learn to be quite. It is best to do it in the morning but not necessary. Get up one-half-hour early. Wake yourself up. Read a Psalm or a poem. And then sit for 15 minutes and repeat a word or a short phrase over and over again. It will be challenging at first. But the fruits of your labor will be abundant.

They have been tasked to obtain your ideas, concerns and suggestions. Specifically, Cardinal George is seeking your help to develop concrete actions to address the problems facing our community of faith. We will be presented with several issues to consider throughout the year.

Please take time to pray over and consider the current question:

"What are specific things Parishes can do to help people recognize that attending Sunday Mass will make a difference in their lives?"

Ken and Tom are to present our Parish suggestions in the next Deanery meeting in January. Please provide your suggestions and ideas by speaking to them directly or using the specially marked collection container to deposit your written ideas.

God is Not a Spy Satellite

The Pharisees had a bad rap. They were good people doing a necessary job. They performed the same function as modern moral theologians — also unloved.

But society and the church both need the Pharisees and the moralists. The average person has neither the time nor the talent to analyze complicated ethical situations and determine the correct moral action. It is not enough to say, “Do good and avoid evil,” or even to say, “Love God and neighbor.” Because in the concrete case, it is often difficult to know what is good and who is neighbor and what the loving thing is.

Moralists are at least as old as writing. Socrates tried to dialogue his way to the good life. Aristotle wrote the first tract on ethics. Moses said he got his laws from God, and many prophets presumed to interpret God’s will in various situations. Somebody has to do it. Somebody has to apply the simple theory of good in each complicated situation.

The heyday of moral theology was the Middle Ages, when St. Thomas Aquinas outlined all possible virtues and vices. Then, some helpful moralists wrote books of all the sins they could think of so priests in the confessional would know one sin from another. But no matter how accurate the catalogues may be, they offer an awful view of humankind, a depressing approach to the Christian life.

In the middle of my studies

Our sins do not define who we are — they are merely symptoms of what is wrong with us. We need to be cured, not cursed.

for the priesthood, I was saved from despair by a breakthrough book called The Primacy of Love. It was such a simple idea — so obvious that it took a few centuries for anyone to think of it. The book started with the virtue of love and then arranged all the other virtues around it, with, of course, the contrary vices. It put sin in a whole new light. But as soon as we forget love, moral theology looks pretty much like the old lists of sin in a different order.

It is time for a new breakthrough. Some biblical experts are often several years ahead of usually conservative moralists. They make the distinction between covenant and contract. In any account of sin, the players are God and humans. In our usual view of sin, God is the lawgiver and we are lawbreakers.

Biblical moralists remind us that the original relationship between God and us was and still is the covenant relationship. We are not just related to God as creature to Creator or as lawgiver to law-keeper. We do not have a legal contract with God but a personal covenant. When we sin, we not only break a law, we break a covenant, a friendship. We are God’s family, not God’s subjects.

In any given situation in a human family, for example, children may decide to do the same thing no matter how they relate to their parents. But it makes a huge difference in their life together if they make decisions of out love or out of fear. And it makes a huge difference in our life with God whether we relate to God as a Parent or as a spy satellite circling our personal world.

Pharisees and moralists are good people who perform a necessary function. We ought to be grateful to them while recognizing their limitations. Hardback catechisms do not translate well into loose-leaf lives. Our sins do not define who we are — they are merely symptoms of what is wrong with us. We need to be cured, not cursed.
