Parish Mission Statement

The Saint Teresa of Avila Parish is a diverse Catholic community of faith that embraces everyone, without exception. We see ourselves as uniquely able to engage in dialogue with people of all faiths and act as peacemakers in our city. Challenged by the Gospel, nourished by the Eucharist and inspired by the teachings of Saint Teresa of Avila, we are called to be witnesses of Christ's Love, for the salvation of all people.

Is He Here Yet?

Christians through the ages have hoped that Jesus would return in their lifetime. Jesus himself promised his disciples that he would return, but warned, “But of that day and hour no one knows, neither the angels of heaven, nor the Son, but the Father alone” (Matthew 24:36). Certain individuals have predicted Christ’s return, only to leave people disillusioned and angry. Natural disasters, wars, and tragedies make people wonder if these signal the “end of times.” But the question is this: If you were absolutely certain that Jesus would return next week, what would you do that you aren’t doing now? Make peace with someone? Let go of grudges and resentment? Tell people how much you love them? Repent of your sins? Do special favors? Pray a lot? Throw a party? Stop holding back and do these now. You can’t take possessions to heaven, but you can take your deeds.

Living Stewardship Now

What is the most painful burden on your heart? Decide to set it right today. If you cannot make amends in person, share your sorrow with God in confession.

¿Ya Llegó Él?

Los cristianos de todas las épocas han abrigado la esperanza de que Jesús volviera durante la vida terrenal de ellos. El mismo Jesús prometió a sus discípulos que regresaría, pero les advirtió: “Por lo que se refiere a ese Día y cuándo vendrá, nadie lo sabe, ni siquiera los ángeles de Dios, sino solamente el Padre” (Mateo 24:36). Algunas personas han predicho la segunda venida de Cristo y lo único que han conseguido es desilusionar y enojar a muchos. Los desastres naturales, las guerras y tragedias hacen que la gente se pregunte si son éstos los signos del “final de los tiempos”. Pero la pregunta a hacernos es ésta: Si supiera que Jesús vendría de nuevo la semana próxima, ¿haría algo diferente a lo que estoy haciendo ahora? ¿Haría las paces con alguien? ¿Abandonaría mis rencores y resentimientos? ¿Le diría a las personas cuánto las amo? ¿Me arrepentiría de mis pecados? ¿Haría favores especiales? ¿Rezará mucho? ¿Daría una fiesta? Pues no esperes más y haz estas cosas ahora. Tus bienes no te los puedes llevar al cielo, pero sí tus buenas obras.

La Corresponsabilidad Viva Ahora

¿Por qué se angustia más tu corazón? Decídet a poner las cosas en orden hoy. Si no puedes enmendar las cosas en persona, comparte tu contrición con Dios en la confesión.

Today's Readings

First Reading — Wisdom is easily discerned by those who love her (Wisdom 6:12-16).

Psalm — My soul is thirsting for you, O Lord my God (Psalm 63).

Second Reading — Since we believe that Jesus died and rose again, through Jesus, God will bring with him those who have died (1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 [13-14]).

Gospel — Stay awake! You know neither the day nor the hour (Matthew 25:1-13).

Expecting the Unexpected

If it ever crossed your mind that Jesus was somewhat lacking in a sense of humor, today's Gospel should belie any such notion. Jesus' story of the five wise and five foolish bridesmaids is downright hilarious. The circumstances of the story were surely familiar to Jesus' listeners, just as they are—if we think about it—to us. Weddings never, never start on time. There's always a delay. Buttons pop off at the last minute. Flowers wilt. Cars full of wedding guests get caught in traffic. Soloists contract laryngitis. Brides or grooms or priests show up late! So the only reasonable way to approach a wedding is with a sense of humor, to realize that something probably will go awry, and, when that happens, to smile about it.

Jesus tells this funny story to encourage us to be watchful, yes; to be ready, yes. But he doesn't tell it to make us dour and somber. The heavy-hearted tremble, waver, lose sight of their place and purpose, and fall asleep. The lighthearted know that the unexpected will happen—is bound to happen—so they are awake in their place and ready in their purpose when it comes. — © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Concluding Rites

The Prayer after Communion gives us a glimpse of the heavenly banquet, of which we have had a foretaste in the Eucharist. The concluding rites speak of what we are to do with this great gift of God. That includes the parish announcements, which are usually given following the Prayer after Communion. Believe it or not, the announcements, which are not an "official" part of the Mass, have been included in the Mass from as early as the fifth century! The deacon or the homilist—even the bishop—would announce coming liturgical celebrations and encourage the people to participate. Today's parish announcements include opportunities for prayer, service, learning, and community building. They should be succinct and should include only significant events and activities in the life of the parish. But even when they are long and tedious, the announcements (and the parish bulletin) flow out of the concluding rites of the Mass. They offer us ways to live the Eucharist, to become what we have received—the Body of Christ, living and active in our local community. — Corinna Laughlin, © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Esperar lo Inesperado

Si alguna vez se te pasó por la mente que a Jesús le faltaba un poco del sentido del humor, el Evangelio de hoy destierra esa noción. La parábola de Jesús sobre las cinco jóvenes precavidas y las cinco jóvenes descuidadas es sumamente chistosa. Las circunstancias de la parábola sin duda resultaban familiares a los que escuchaban a Jesús, como lo son para nosotros. Las bodas nunca, nunca comienzan a la hora. Siempre hay un retraso. Botones que se caen al último minuto. Flores que se marchitan. Vehículos llenos de invitados atascados en el tráfico. Solistas que contraen laringitis. ¡Novias, novios o sacerdotes que llegan tarde! Así que la única manera razonable de encarar una boda es con buen sentido del humor, conscientes de que algo va a salir mal, y, cuando eso suceda, sonreír.

Jesús cuenta esta historia chistosa para alentarnos a que seamos vigilantes, sí; a estar preparados, sí. Pero no nos la cuenta para que nos amarguemos y nos ensombrecamos. Los apesadumbrados tiemblan, titubean, pierden de vista su lugar y propósito, y se quedan dormidos. Los festivos saben que sucederá lo inesperado —más que seguro— así que están despiertos en su puesto y listos para cumplir su propósito en el acto. — © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

La Eucaristía es Nuestro Banquete

La Eucaristía es una celebración de hermanos y hermanas a la que se acude a participar, no a ver. Vamos a ella a comer y a beber algo muy especial, con una actitud muy especial. La celebración plena y total de este sacramento se da solamente cuando se participa plena y totalmente en este banquete. No es como quien va a una fiesta de cumpleaños y, al invitarle a pasar a la mesa dice: “Yo sólo vine a ver, muchas gracias”. Pero la Eucaristía no es algo mágico, es divina, no mágica; no obra en nosotros a menos de que participemos en ella como se espera que lo hagamos. Vamos a ella no a manifestar lo que no somos, sino a reafirmar lo que somos, hijos e hijas de Dios, por eso es banquete gozoso. Vamos a dar gracias por lo que Dios ha hecho en nosotros, por lo que queremos que haga. Vamos a sentarnos a la mesa para compartir de un mismo pan y celebrar la misma alegría: que Cristo se hace pan para que todos comamos; que se hace vino para que todos bebamos. Coman y beban. — Miguel Arias, © Copyright, J. S. Paluch Co.

Letting Go Attitudes That Block God's Call

Old Rick was taller than the average bear. Fairly thin, tall, unkempt hair for the most part...you get the picture. My co-workers and I called him "Rickels" for short, to get under his skin mainly. He was our supervisor and he was a pain in the rear. His management style was horrendous. "My way or the highway" he would say with an edge. "OOOO-kay, Rickels" was the standard response.

Rick was easy to size up. Other people in the company were far more sophisticated; they had the exact same "My way or the highway" attitude, but were much harder to figure out. Typically, I would find out that I was not doing things their way far after the start of the project, after the boat was down river so many miles, when turning back was not an option.

When it comes to responding to God's call, I have to admit that many times I take on a "My way or the highway" attitude. I don't sense that I am alone.

Here is how it goes. Something will arise and, if it is too uncomfortable for me to deal with, I will figure out a way to exit myself from the situation. "That's not my dog fight." "It is not my responsibility to address this situation." I certainly like the feel-good part of being a husband, a dad, of being involved in a church community and having positive spiritual experiences; but it is the uncomfortable experiences I don't care for.

Our faith tradition tells us that many of the saints struggled with this very same issue; that it took many of them years to let go of the "My way or the highway" attitude toward God's call and learn to simply respond in a consistent and positive manner. This is a difficult thing to accomplish. I have made a commitment this November to pray to my saints to help me let go of my "My way or the highway" attitude so that I can more appropriately and freely respond to God's call.

Remembering Our Loved Ones

ALL SOULS

There is a Remembrance Table placed near the altar to put pictures and mementos to honor our family members and friends who have died with the hope of rising again.

If you would like to participate, please bring in your photos and mementos for the table.

CCHD Weekend November 12-13

In 2009, 43.6 million Americans lived at or below the poverty line, the highest number in the 51 years for which data is available. With many families living one paycheck away from financial instability, there is little hope that more Americans won't face poverty in the years to come.

The Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD) funds programs in communities across the United States where people living in poverty join together to identify problems, make decisions and find ways to improve their lives and their neighborhoods.

The CCHD accomplishes its goal by making society more just by empowering the poor. Every year CCHD funds projects in Chicago and across the United States to help poor communities end the conditions that perpetuate poverty.

Participating in CCHD next weekend is a way to help strengthen our commitment to social justice for our communities. To learn more about CCHD programs go to www.archchicago.org/cchd

Be Prepared

Weddings are always delicate affairs. We can never be sure if they will go as planned or if a glitch will develop in the middle of the festivities. The wise bridesmaids found it prudent to have extra oil on hand just in case. They took steps to be prepared, since they were unsure how long the wedding party might be delayed. The foolish bridesmaids found out that the last minute was too late to get prepared.

This is not a parable about sharing but about being ready. When the foolish bridesmaids returned from seeking additional oil, the bridegroom had already arrived, and would not open the door because he did not know them. Like the guest without the wedding garment (Matt 22:11-14), all have the same chance to be part of the reign of God. All the bridesmaids had the opportunity to be prepared.

In these parables proclaimed at the end of this year (the servants with the talents and the separation of sheep from goats), we see Matthew encouraging his community to remain prepared by living attentively in the present while being aware of the future. The reign of God is coming, yet the community must be alert to God's active presence among them now. Don't make frantic last-minute attempts to straighten out your lives, but live in prepared anticipation. Be faithful to the teachings of Jesus, and there is no need for fear. Hold on to that faith long into the night as you wait, even though the bridegroom is nowhere in sight — stay awake, hope and pray.

Life is but a collection of minutes: each fresh with potential. I can choose to use them for a greater good or do otherwise.

Life is but a collection of minutes: each fresh with potential. I can choose to use them for a greater good or do otherwise. The bridesmaids did not know the hour of the wedding party's arrival, and some missed the Lord's coming because they were not living each moment to its full possibility. If I only have a collection of minutes, what will I do with my stash? Will I spend them bringing the reign of God any closer to reality? Will I find a way to combat the barriers separating me from my sisters and brothers? Will I choose to delve into the roots of injustice and follow — or even blaze — a trail to greater unity, justice and compassion?

Matthew called his community to face issues of their time such as alienation and prejudice. We too live in a world where people are discriminated against because of their mannerisms, customs or values. Racism and prejudice have crippled communities. Jesus offered God's people another way to live. If unjust treatment happens to even one person, the reign of God cannot be celebrated and is not yet fully present.

Jesus took strong stands; he followed firm convictions, including whom to call friends and disciples, those with whom he would eat, what authorities to face, what blindness to confront. These last chapters of Matthew show clearly where Jesus' beliefs and confrontations would lead him. Yet he faithfully followed the path, believing he was bringing the reign of God into the world. If we see, believe and act in the manner that Jesus did, we, too, might face the same confrontations. Yet we will know we are bringing about God's reign.

Like the bridesmaids, we are called to be awake and ready to take a stand. We are called to be attentive to the present by making God's reign come about here and now. Though the bridegroom is not in sight, each of us is called to serve and act in hope.

How ready will I be?
